

Food Innovation “Big Day Out”

10am to 2pm, Friday 21st October 2022

Dairy Farm Road, Palmerston North

Did you know that New Zealand’s most significant concentration of food scientists and innovators is located just over the Manawatū River?

Here’s your chance to see, taste and learn about the fantastic food innovation that goes on right on your doorstep.

There will be displays showcasing innovative projects and products from AgResearch, Fonterra, Massey University and Plant & Food Research, as well as exciting food entrepreneurs from across our region.

What do you think about ice cream from cauliflower? Well, we think it’s awesome, but come and try for yourself!

Beverages that help your brain and body work better? Meat-substitutes from hemp? Freeze-dried ice cream? Mushrooms you can grow in your shower?

All these and more.

There will be chef demonstrations, products to purchase, food trucks, education, coffee and even robots.

To help us ensure we have enough samples for everyone, please let us know if you are going to join us.

For any questions or to RSVP please contact Jo@foodhq.com or 027 634 8821.

Proudly brought to you by FoodHQ Partners:
